Here's the latest update regarding member Kevin Rhodehouse and the various continents on which he has performed. It is now up to five. In November, Kevin made it down to South America, specifically Buenos Aires. That's five continents and fifteen countries.

We were to have a double header in December. On the first Thursday, two members Magic-Al Garber and Bob Weinowitz donated their talents to the Syosset Public Library and performed a holiday show in their brand new theater. The following Thursday, the club was to hold a private holiday show for members and their families. The scheduled performers were the Amazing Jess (see her story in the November Linking Ring), TJ Tana, Nick Lange all of whom are members of our junior Ring, along with Bill White and that world traveler Kevin Rhodehouse, and his son. But, alas, we had a 3-inch snowfall and the library closed for the evening and we had to cancel our show.

We had our 30th anniversary celebration on January 12th. Actually, I hope we had it. You never know with January weather on Long Island. The show featured Russ Merlin and The Gulamerians. Updates to follow.
