

On Wednesday, July 6th, our Ring gathered to meet but unfortunately we had a small turnout of only eight members. We did however screen a perspective member who will perform at our next meeting. A primary reason for the light turnout in addition to conventions and vacations was that five members reported to sick bay with various ailments. As far as I know, everybody is recovering or has recovered very nicely. But there was still some magic. Zack Mandel and Bill Krupskas each performed a few card effects before a few of the guys relocated to the diner.

The Board also decided that due to many upcoming conflicts and commitments that the club will go dark for the month of August and will reconvene at our regularly scheduled September meeting. Until September.
